

My dear little friend,

I am just coming from the big tree in the forest. I was sent by the Birdie to ask your kind help because her leg get nipped among the tree branches and cannot move. She tried everything but could not escape.

Maybe I should climb up the tree and release her... however, I gain my energy from you, therefore we need to cooperate. I cannot climb up without your help. Please help me. As many time you will be smart, and

I can climb up one branch higher the tree towards Birdie.

Moreover, poor Birdie is behind with the nest building because of this accident. Could you please collect leaves to her nest? We will get a new leaf from the wind when you

I tell you a secret: I know Birdie very well and she is so kind that I think she will hide a surprise for us in the bag when we finished the work. I am very curious about the surprise.

Birdie and I count on your smart help. I am looking forward to going to rescue Birdie!

Kind regards,

Elf
